(Please see individual bottles for ABV%).

Below is a sample of our distinguished craft beer producers:

SAMUEL SMITH

The old brewery at Tadcaster was established in 1758. It is Yorkshire's oldest brewery and to this day still uses traditional methods of brewing using its own cooper making and repairing all its oak casks. The original well is still in use and the brewing water is drawn from 85 feet underground.

WILLIAMS BROTHERS

Williams Brothers is located in Alloa and set in the old George Younger's bottling hall in Kelliebank. Although they now produce an eclectic range of craft beers for the international market, the Brotherhood 'Brew house' is steeped in Scottish tradition and brewed in a town once regarded a 'Scotland's beer capital'.

INNIS & GUNN

Discovered by accident Innis & Gunn beers have a distinctive depth and flavour which is owed to a whisky distiller's experiment. The whisky distiller wanted to season thier cask with the sweet malty character of full bodied beer. Luckily an inquisitive soul tasted the thrown away beer and discovered that it had been transformed by the oak an unusual brew.
